

Coastal freak waves in 2008

E. Pelinovsky (1), B.H. Choi (2), and Ch. Kharif (3)

(1) Applied Physics Institute, Department of Nonlinear Geophysical Processes, Nizhny Novgorod, Russian Federation (pelinovsky@hydro.appl.sci-nnov.ru, 007 8314 365976), (2) Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, Sungkyunkwan University, Suwon, Korea, (3) IRPHE, Marseille, France

Several coastal freak wave events have occurred in 2008 in the World. Available data of these events are given. Two of them: single extreme wave at Boryeong Coast (Korea) on May 4 and big wave at Cannes (France) on 15 December are described in details.