

A simple capacitor model for radio emission associated with earthquakes

A. Ramírez-Rojas (1) and G. Ares de Parga (2)

(1) Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana, Departamento de Ciencias Básicas, 02200, México D.F., México (arr@correo.azc.uam.mx), (2) Instituto Politécnico Nacional. Departamento de Física, Escuela Superior de Física y Matemáticas. U.P. Zacatenco, 07738, México D.F.

In this work we proposed a simple model based on the properties of an electric capacitor under short-circuit conditions as a possible mechanism of radio emissions with earthquakes. The model can be considered as complementary to other models concerning the same problem.