

Unsteady waves generated by the obstacle moving under ice cover

Alexander Korobkin (1), Vasily Kostikov (2,3), Nikolay Makarenko (2,3)

(1) School of Mathematics, University of East Anglia, Norwich, UK, (2) Lavrentyev Institute of Hydrodynamics, Novosibirsk, Russian Federation (makarenko@hydro.nsc.ru), (3) Novosibirsk State University

The nonlinear problem on the waves generated by submerged obstacle moving under ice sheet is considered. Our analysis uses reduction of basic hydro-elastic wave equations to an equivalent boundary integral-differential system. Small-time asymptotic solution is constructed in the case when the obstacle starts with constant acceleration from the rest.