

MEASURING DEFORESTATION USING IMAGES

GUILLAUME COUPECHOUX

Romania (guillaume.coupechoux@lyceefrancais.ro)

Description of the activity

Deforestation is a fact that the majority of students have heard about many times. However, students have rarely (if at all) been able to see it on images that calculate the surface area of this deforestation in the world and in particular, in their own countries.

The main objective of this activity is to allow students to see and calculate the surface areas of deforestation in the world and in their own country.