

Precipitation proxys and feedbacks: an application

Carla Victoria Valencia-Negrete and Alin-Andrei Carsteanu

National Polytechnic Institute, ESFM-IPN, Mexico City, Mexico (alin@esfm.ipn.mx)

In order to explain the functioning of climatic feedbacks during the Little Ice Age, we will classify and analyze the differences between the precipitation proxies before/after and during this period of time, respectively. After identifying the content of mutual information between those proxies, we formulate a hypothetical stochastic-dynamic model to accomodate the existing data.