

Variability of winds and temperature in the Bergen area

Daniel Schönbein (1), Haraldur Ólafsson (2), Jan Asle Olseth (1), and Birgitte Furevik (3)

(1) Bergen School of Meteorology, Geophysical Institute, University of Bergen, Norway (Daniel.Schonbein@student.uib.no),

(2) University of Iceland (haraldur@vedur.is) and Icelandic Meteorol. Office, (3) Norwegian Meteorological Institute

In recent years, observations have been made by a dense network of automatic weather stations in the Bergen area in W-Norway (Bergen School of Meteorology). Here, cases are presented that feature large spatial variability in winds and temperature and the ability of a numerical model to reproduce this variability is assessed.