

ESA's Sentinel Data Access

Jolyon Martin

European Space Agency, Esrin

Following the in orbit commission of the Sentinel satellites ESA provides an online, open and free access to all the qualified products. This presentation provides a technical overview of the Sentinels data access from it's data hubs. ESA's approach for a open access to the Sentinel data are discussed with a focus on the the available application programming interfaces and potential software re-use.