

Effect of rotation on shoaling internal waves

Roger Grimshaw

University College London, Department of Mathematics, London, United Kingdom (r.grimshaw@ucl.ac.uk)

The propagation of nonlinear internal waves over variable topography in the presence of background rotation is examined using a variable coefficient rotation-modified Kortweg-de Vries (Ostrovsky) equation. Simulations and analysis indicate that the formation of nonlinear envelope wave packets is a robust feature.