

Exploring Geology Through Fieldwork on the Isle of Arran

Daniel Newton

Hereford Sixth Form College, Herefordshire, United Kingdom (djn@hereford.ac.uk)

In my poster I would like to show fellow teachers how I use the amazing geology of the Isle of Arran in Scotland to develop fieldwork skills and geological understanding.

I will explain how different sites are used to explore different aspects of geology. Photos and diagrams will be used to show some of the interesting geological sites and problems which we explore during a week of intensive fieldwork.

The poster will hopefully inspire my fellow teachers to consider doing more fieldwork and perhaps visit the Island themselves.