

The concept of the Eco conference

Tanja Cegnar

Slovenian Environment Agency, Meteorological Office, Ljubljana, Slovenia (tanja.cegnar@gov.si)

Each year on the Earth day the society Planet Zemlja (Planet Earth) in cooperation with the Slovenian Environment Agency is organizing the Eco conference.

The concept of this event is to provide a platform for an open dialogue about the environment between stakeholders representing different sectors. We bring together politicians, decision-makers, economists, scientists, experts, students and other interested audience.

Each year we focus on a particular environmental aspect that is illuminated from different perspectives. Two years ago, the emphasis was on water, last year on climate change, in 2016 we concentrated on meteorological monitoring and the role of astronomy in human history and present.

We maintain a dedicated FB site for the conference; we publish a bulletin, information is also available on the web sites of the society Planet Zemlja and Slovenian Environment Agency. There is no registration fee and all contributions as well as organization and logistics are carried out on voluntary basis.